Le bestiaire des dieux Greenwood

Henri Michaux is both a recognised poet and visual artist, arguably one of the greatest 'double artists' of the twentieth century. This book presents the first detailed examination of a particular interdisciplinary aspect of his production, namely, the innovative experimentation with signs contained in four works: Mouvements, Par la voie des rythmes, Saisir and Par des traits. Questions arise concerning their literary and visual status as, in their attempt to render interior rhythm and dynamism, they occupy an interstitial space between writing and drawing, between the book and the canvas, between the Western alphabet and Chinese characters. This study addresses these questions by analysing the conception, production and reception of Michaux's signs and the literary and artistic contexts in which they were produced.

Jim Kobak's Kirkus Reviews H. W. Wilson

Adult books are categorized by genre (i.e., fiction, mystery, science fiction, nonfiction). Along with bibliographic information, the expected date of publication and the names of literary agents for individual titles are provided. Starred reviews serve several functions: In the adult section, they mark potential bestsellers, major promotions, book club selections, and just very good books; in the children's section, they denote books of very high quality. The unsigned reviews manage to be discerning and sometimes quite critical.

Les animaux fascinent les humains depuis la nuit des temps. Une évidence et une actualité toujours ancrées jusque dans le quotidien. «Fort comme un boeuf», «innocent comme l'agneau qui vient de naître» ou «quel âne !» : les comparaisons ne manquent pas. D'où viennent-elles ? De l'observation, de la cohabitation, de la confrontation avec la nature, qui ont abouti à une formidable richesse symbolique dont Le Bestiaire des dieux explore le fascinant livre d'images et d'allégories. Ainsi, l'Asie, l'Égypte, les grandes civilisations précolombiennes, l'Inde, l'Afrique, l'Orient ancien ou l'Océanie, ont contribué à en écrire les pages. L'Europe occidentale a aussi forgé son bestiaire au contact de croyances et de religions qui marquent toujours les mentalités. Mondes gréco-romain, celtique, germano-nordique, en restent les grands maîtres d'oeuvre, au travers de récits d'une intensité et d'une beauté exceptionnelles. Ainsi que, bien sur, les trois monothéismes qui racontent à leur tour les rapports entre les animaux et l'homme, autre animal, sous l'oeil omniprésent du Dieu unique. Après L'Herbier des dieux, consacré aux végétaux, cet ouvrage, sans équivalent, dresse plus de cent cinquante portraits issus de ce gigantesque fonds religieux qui nous accompagne toujours. De l'abeille au vautour, Le Bestiaire des dieux invite à les découvrir sous un jour souvent étonnant et inédit ! Historien de formation, Pierre Chavot, auteur d'une quarantaine d'ouvrages, est passionné par la transmission. Mêlant érudition et parfaite accessibilité au plus grand nombre, il s'attache à explorer des domaines touchant les religions, les traditions, le merveilleux, les légendes et les mythologies du monde.

The notions of other peoples, cultures, and natural conditions have always been determined by the epistemology of imagination and fantasy, providing much freedom and creativity, and yet have also created much fear, anxiety, and horror. In this regard, the pre-modern world demonstrates striking parallels with our own insofar as the projections of alterity might be different by degrees, but they are fundamentally the same by content. Dreams, illusions, projections, concepts, hopes, utopias/dystopias, desires, and emotional attachments are as specific and impactful as the physical environment. This volume thus sheds important light on the various lenses used by people in the Middle Ages and the early modern age as to how they came to terms with their perceptions, images, and notions. Previous scholarship focused heavily on the history of mentality and history of emotions, whereas here the history of pre-modern imagination, and fantasy assumes center position. Imaginary things are taken seriously because medieval and early modern writers and artists clearly reveal their great significance in their works and their daily lives. This approach facilitates a new deep-structure analysis of pre-modern culture.

Travailler avec des albums en maternelle Manchester University Press

Les programmes de l'école maternelle préconisent une rencontre quotidienne des élèves avec les livres. Devant le nombre considérable d'albums existants, comment se constituer un corpus d'ouvrages pour alimenter la lecture de chaque jour ? E. Doumenc adopte des regroupements suivant des critères particulièrement adaptés à l'école maternelle, en commençant d'abord par les caractéristiques physiques de l'album parce qu'ils s'adressent aux sens des tout-petits avant de passer aux contenus, à la question du genre et de la structure narrative. Elle jette ainsi les bases pour se constituer une sorte de bibliothèque idéale de la classe avec des ouvrages remarquables, déjà expérimentés, susceptibles d'impulser des activités d'expression langagière et artistique.

School Library Journal University of Toronto Press

This multi-disciplinary study of three contemporary French poets, Yves Bonnefoy, Jean Tardieu, and Henri Michaux, originally re-examines the question of interarts relations in twentieth century French studies. Adelia Williams focuses on three poets who have devoted a central portion of their oeuvre to the plastic arts, showing the complexity with which they have formulated a poetic vision informed by profound reflection on the visual arts. By successfully combining modern and post-modern thought with literary theory, cultural criticism, and art history, this book is an important contribution to interdisciplinary explorations of the roots of modernism.

This study brings new methodologies of literary geography to bear upon the unique contents of a codex known as British Library MS Harley 2253. The Harley manuscript was produced upon England's Welsh March, by a scribe whose generation died in the Black Death. It contains a diverse set of writings: love-lyrics and devotional literature, political songs and fabliaux, saints' lives, courtesy texts, bible stories and travelogues. These works alternate between languages (Middle English, Anglo-Norman and Latin) but operate in conversation with one another. The introduction explores how this fragmentary miscellany keeps being sutured into 'whole'-ness by commentary upon it. Individual chapters examine different genres and social groupings and demonstrate that there are many Harley landscapes still waiting to be discovered. It will be of great value to those studying literary history, medieval studies, cultural geography, gender studies, Jewish studies and book history.
